Have you seen these posts before?

Probably not.

These are excerpts from recent ads for research panel participants but they can definitely be hard to find if you don't know where to look. We are about to solve that problem in two minutes.

As you can see the ads are for normal people. The market research studies I participate in and share with others are not medical based though some companies may choose to offer medical research studies too.

Many of these companies have been around for years. For example, Schlesinger Associates recently celebrated their 50th anniversary! At the time of this writing, all companies listed recruit nationwide for remote (online, skype, or telephone) surveys.

Sign up as a participant and companies contact you directly when surveys that fit your profile might be a match. It also doesn't hurt to check their websites once a week for quick ending studies as well.

Once the company determines that you are a potential match for an upcoming study (based on your profile), you'll need to complete a short screener to confirm that you're a good fit for each study before acceptance.

There is no limit to the number of studies you can complete. Be sure to read the participant details of each site.

P.S. The more sites you join the higher your earning potential.

Good luck!
