1. Drive With Uber

Want to make extra money in a way that works for you? Sign up to drive with Uber. You use your own car to give people rides around town and you get paid weekly. And it's super flexible – you can drive day or night, 24/7. Just hop in your car, turn on the app and you'll get a pickup request from a rider.

The Uber Partner app you use to get requests gives you optional turn-by-turn directions to your passenger and their destination. Everyone who rides with Uber has an account and gets a rating from every driver.

Once the trip is over, you'll rate your passenger and can take the next request, sign off and go about your day – how much you want to earn is up to you.

2. Complete Online Surveys

Varying opinions exist about which online survey sites are more profitable but it really depends on your personal demographics. 3. Rent Your Vehicle

Yes, you can actually rent your vehicle and earn some pretty decent coin with Turo. List your vehicle for free in about 10 minutes. You'll need to provide a description of your vehicle and upload photos of your ride.

You also have to state which dates your car is available for use. You receive a notification when someone expresses an interest in renting your vehicle. From there you can accept or reject the request. If you decide to go forward with the rental, you meet the potential renter to drop off the car.

Nervous?

Turo covers your car with $1 million in liability insurance. They also cover 24/7 roadside assistance. Actual earnings vary depending on the market value of your vehicle and how many days you rent it.

No college degree required.

Jobs are posted daily across the internet. Make a Living Writing is one of the best websites we've seen on freelance writing. It lists a load of paying writing opportunities that you can apply for right now.

7. Divorce Your Stuff

Sell your stuff using the Decluttr app or their online site. They buy CDs, DVDs, games, books, cell phones and other electronics.

Did you know that companies and research based universities will pay you for your opinion? Not just quarters either. $60 – $120 an hour is common.

The trick is that you will not be eligible for many of these studies and they are usually no more than an hour in length. Now, there are studies that last several days that may pay several hundred dollars.

Such studies may require that you complete an online journal regarding the subject matter. We've seen the highest paying studies (over $1,000.00) related to medical ailments.

Once again this is about obtaining your feedback not about becoming a medical research subject and taking medication. Those types of studies do however exist.

11. When You DO Spend, Get Money Back

You could be missing out on an additional savings of up to 40% by shopping online if you're not using Ebates.com.

They've partnered with over 1,800 stores (including amazon.com) so there are plenty of shopping choices.

This makes getting cash back from a store you normally shop highly likely and super simple. They recently partnered with some major retailers to provide in-store discounts too.

Here are several more sites that also offer cash back by beginning your shopping through their portal AT NO ADDITIONAL COST.

Top Cash Back They claim to have the highest rate of cash back – guaranteed.

My Points allows you to Earn Free Gift Cards for the Things You Do Online. They offer cashback as well as surveys.

Paribus works a bit differently in that they let you know if a store owes you a refund based on price drops or late delivery. You keep 100% of the savings.

try right NOW?
